Calligo appoints new CEO

Calligo, a leader in Cloud services and AI driven data transformation technology, today announces the appointment of Ray Walsh as its CEO, as successor to Mr. Paul Comerford.

Mr. Walsh will build on the transformational changes introduced by Mr. Comerford, with a view to delivering increased market share and continuing Calligo's leadership in providing transformational solutions to clients.

Mr. Walsh brings his extensive experience in technology enabled business services in a global context to Calligo, and was most recently CEO at Market Force Information, an international Customer Experience (CX) focused firm with business across the world.

Calligo takes this opportunity to thank Mr. Comerford for his services and his delivery of the recent business transformation programme.

Brendan Walsh, Company Secretary and General Counsel
